

PERIODICAL PAYMENT ORDERS IN PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMS AND THE OGDEN DISCOUNT RATE

INTRODUCTION

An introductory level workshop providing a learning opportunity for both experienced and young professionals to develop their understanding of the uses of lump sum payments versus Periodical Payment Orders (PPOs). Looking at how to reserve, manage payments and administration as well as the reinsurance ramifications.

DATE & VENUE

27 April 2017
Imparando
56 Commercial Road
London E1 1LP

LEARNING & OUTCOMES

On completion of the course delegates will have a knowledge of the basis, techniques and purposes of the Ogden & ASHE tables; as well as individual personal injury case reserving. Along with possible options for reinsurance recoveries, delegates will be able to better assess actuarial and medical reports prepared for them, and the reasonableness of the figures proposed.

PROGRAMME - 3 HOURS CPD

- 09:15 Welcome by Leslie-Ann Giovnilli
09:20 Agenda by Ed Gooda, FCII
09:25 Background and history of long-term injury settlements
- What is a Periodical Payment Order?
- 09:40 Reserving for Personal Injury Claims:
- Life Expectancy
 - The Discount Rate
 - Ogden
 - ASHE
- 10:15 Practical example of reserving
10:30 Payment and administration of PPOs / lump sum
10:45 Break for coffee
11:00 Reinsurance ramifications including:
- Indexation Clauses
 - Capitalisation Clauses
- 11:30 Case Study – Catastrophic Injury
12:15 Summary, feedback and questions
12:30 End

The course will include all refreshments as well as lecture, case study and notes.

Prepay cost of course £245.00 plus VAT.
Replacement only, no refunds for no shows.