

Don't forget your Young Professionals

In these most unusual circumstances with many of us working remotely, it can be difficult to demonstrate innovation and creativity. However, we invite you to consider nomination of a young professional colleague who you feel has shown excellence, before or during these challenging times.

This year the Young Professionals Award will be presented on 23 November at our Annual Congress in Brighton where some 300 friends and colleagues will be in attendance. It is a great experience and a valued acknowledgement of the achievement of the winner - so please do take the time to identify a colleague who you feel deserves the recognition for their role in the legacy market.

Nominations should be submitted to registrations@irla-international.com by Wednesday September 30, 2020. We are looking for demonstration of:

- Outstanding Business Outcomes

or

- Outstanding Customer/Client Service

or

- Outstanding Leadership

Please click here for the list of past winners of this award.

Your nomination should include a description (no more than 350 words) of the achievements of the IRLA Young Professional evidencing why you believe they fulfil the Award criteria. This must include support from their line manager, a peer and a client.

We look forward to receiving your nomination.
