

If your circumstances change...

The Legacy Professionals Association

We may be a not for profit but IRLA provides time and support for members on gardening leave, in redundancy situations or other similar situations. We will keep you on our database, with your permission, for at least three months and invite you along to all free events during that time, subject to any restrictions imposed by your employer. Right now, we are managing around a dozen people in these circumstances. No-one is excluded from this offer, and it is made to everyone who notifies us of their position strictly confidentially.

Legacy knowledge and contacts do not vanish overnight, and we would be the first to ask for advice or help if we felt you could provide it. Our community spirit remains strong and we try to act in good faith with all members and in fairness to whomever it is that comes to us for help.

Please do not however ask for free access to popular paying events as we would have to say no; we build in a limited number of discounted places that along with the low prices keep us over break even.

Best regards
